A teal-colored illustration on a white background. The central text "I just knew too much." is written in a black, sans-serif font. Surrounding the text are various teal-colored elements: several rectangular papers of different sizes, some with horizontal lines representing text, and others with abstract shapes or symbols (like a large 'Z' or a jagged line). Wavy, looping lines in the same teal color connect some of the papers, creating a sense of flow or a tangled web. Small teal dots are scattered throughout the composition, adding to the busy, chaotic feel.

A graphic design featuring a series of horizontal bands with overlapping, semi-transparent letters and shapes in shades of gray, teal, and black. The letters include 'C', 'R', 'A', 'Z', 'Y', and 'Q', creating a layered, abstract effect.
